

g the chance

by

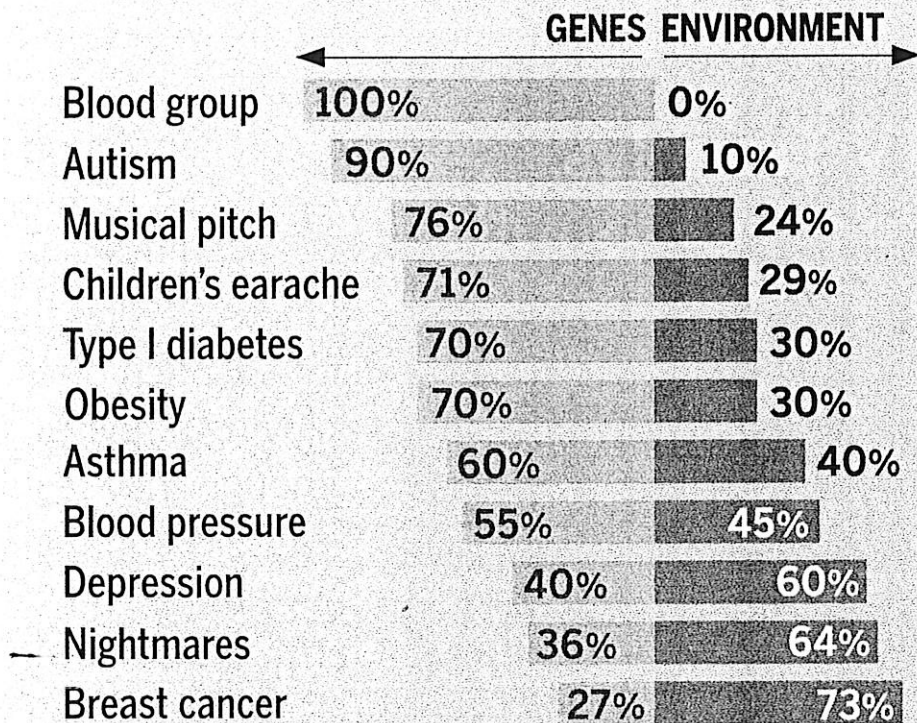

k
ed

e

Is It You or the World?

Personality traits and medical conditions can be influenced by both genes and the environment. By studying groups of identical twins (who share a matched set of genes), scientists have estimated how much a trait is determined by genes and how much by surroundings.

Midpoints are given for ranges
New Scientist